

Straight to the Gate

...best in '39... best in '40

More than 15,000,000 people used the Direct Route last year. Why? Because it banishes all confusion and worries when you get to New York. As your Pennsylvania Railroad train from West or South glides into Pennsylvania Station, N. Y., you merely step to a waiting electric train . . . in 10 minutes, for 10 cents, you're at the main gate to the Fair. Only Pennsylvania Railroad offers this exclusive advantage.

No traffic complications. No hot weather driving over crowded highways. No parking problems or big-city driving.

Save time, worry, money. Take the Pennsylvania Railroad . . . the direct route . . . with station on Fair Grounds.

Don't Miss These!

RAILROADS ON PARADE . . . "Hit" show of the Fair of '39 . . . back again with even more thrills. A magnificent pageant of railroading from earliest days. See, too, Railroads in Action . . . and Railroads in Building. Put this fascinating exhibit first on your list of things to see. (First performance "Railroads on Parade", May 25.)

RADIO CITY . . . Just one of the many interesting places in New York City easily reached from the centrally located Pennsylvania Station. Shops, theatres, hotels are all handy to New York's largest railroad terminal.
